

CCGR Dataset RGB Data Usage Agreement

This agreement is established to regulate the proper use of the CCGR dataset's RGB data to ensure the participants' privacy and intellectual property rights. Any researcher or institution wishing to access the RGB data of the CCGR dataset must comply with the following use terms:

1. Research Purposes Only: The dataset is strictly for academic and non-commercial research purposes only.
2. No Modification or Redistribution: Modifying or distributing the dataset in any form is not permitted.
3. Internal Use: The dataset is to be used only within your organization or research group and is not to be shared outside of this group.
4. No Derivation Without Permission: No new derived data may be published from our RGB data without simultaneous permission from the paper authors, Shinan Zou, Jin Tang, and the School of Automation at Central South University.
5. Intellectual Property Rights: Each subject has signed a data collection agreement, and they have been compensated for the data copyright fees. Therefore, all rights to the CCGR dataset, including any derived data, belong exclusively to the data publishing team.

The team leader and the applicant must sign this agreement before any data exchange can occur. Please note that due to the sensitive nature of the RGB data, which contains more human privacy information, a physical (paper) agreement is mandatory.

This agreement necessitates the following information from the requesting party:
